As far as the game itself was concerned, it afforded little of a contest. The West Point lads were never in the running. Douglas a Puzzle.

Douglas, Navy's mighty football player and all-around athlete, was on the rubber for his team, while Hyatt was selected to do the twirling honors for the visitors. The big Middy athlete proved a terror to the opposing batsmen, allowing but four scattered hits, retiring eleven men on strikes, and tightening when matters looked dangerous.

He gave way to Lanphier in the ninth inning, and before the latter could gather himself together Army obtained two hits, which, with errors, netted them three

The Middies took kindly to Hyatt's curves at the start of the game, and it was a matter of general comment that some one was not substituted for him after the second inning, when the Middies tallied eight runs, enough to decide the *game. And to make things worse, Hyatt's team mates backed him up in miserable fashion, a total of twelve errors being chalked against them. ## KID SULLIVAN A FARMER.

Washington Fighter Wants Another Match with Burns.

Dissatisfied with the showing he made in his previous two battles with "Soldier" Burns, "Kid" Sullivan is after another chance, and announces that he is willing ray to meet Burns on a winner-take-all basis.

Sullivan is now a full-fledged farmer. Douglas was a puzzle to the soldiers.

The West Pointers gave their first exhibition of ragged fielding in the first inning, when a wild pitch, a passed ball, an error, and two singles gave the Navy two runs. Again, in the second inning. He has bought a big tract of land at Berwyn, Md., where he follows the plow every day, which he believes is the best sort of training for a battle with Burns. Sullivan says that he is willing to post a forfeit at any time "Sammy" Harris, the manager of Burns, makes good for Burns, and he adds that if he cannot beat Burns in fifteen rounds he will retire from the ring.

Sullivan is now a full-dedged farmer.

GEORGIA CALLS FOR ROOSEVELT

To the people of Georgia, irrespective of party, we appeal to sign this petition, nominating a Insane, at Wards Island, but a letter pulsating, warm, generous, and hearty found in his pocket told how the race track had robbed her of her husband. The President, and the good of the whole country, as Georgians view it, as embodied in his policies. This petition means just what it says; it is backed I by no political combination of any kind strength-all whites; no negroes-who want the President to stand for re-elec tion, regardless.

Will Be Taken to Convention, No direct appeal will be made to the President. These people down here are too honest themselves to doubt his honesty of purpose in declining to authorize the use of his name again. These Crackers propose to go to the Republican convention straight. They declare that the President must yield to the imperative demand of the people. They believe this 'Georgia Roosevelt boom''-queer as that nay sound to some people-is the one boom that is destined to win, and hold the President steady at the hammer, despite every counter movement heretofore conceived or remotely conceivable.

It is only the end of the Georgia gubernatorial campaign that has awakened the politicians fully, to the stupendous magnitude of the Roosevelt movement that has been progressing so quietly and so unostentatiously in their midst. That there are 30,000 stalwart Georgians now enlisted in the cause is hard to realize: that there will be twice that many within the next week is well within the range of the possible. And they are 90 per cent Democrats, too; every man of them is white, of voting age, and pledged to register and vote! A Most Remarkable Affair.

Whether this movement effects its ulticall that comes direct from the people; impregnably Democratic, and bound to vote for even "a yellow dog," provided only the said dog be tagged "Democratic."

The truth of this story may be diffistreet and 513 Pennsylvania avenue.

cult to grasp. But the conditions described surely exist-as surely as the sun shines in Dixie, and as surely as watermelons are growing bigger every day. The people down here are wildly enthusiastic for Roosevelt; they admire Taft in a far away and vague sort of fashion, but they want Roosevelt. I do not believe a dozen well-posted men in this State doubt that the President could ! and would carry it, if he should go before the people next November as a candidate for the Presidency. Party lines would count for nothing; Georgia would be found overwhelmingly in the Roosevelt
